

To the Union Men of Ohio County.

It is recommended that you assemble in Town Hall, on Tuesday evening, the 11th inst., at first call, for the purpose of selecting delegates, as a County Convention to be held at the Court House, in Wheeling, on Saturday afternoon, the 25th inst., at 2 o'clock.

It is recommended further that these primary meetings in the city be held at 7 o'clock on the evening of the 11th, and in the country at 2 in the afternoon.

The County convention on the 25th will select delegates to the Parkersburg State Convention, and nominate candidates for the House of Delegates, and for the various county offices.

By order of the Committee.

TUESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 7.

Governor Morton's Speech.

We give up our first page, this morning, to Governor Morton's New Albany speech. It is a most thorough and telling vindication of the proposed Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, and merits the thoughtful perusal of every loyal man. Read it and give it to your neighbor.

Who is Responsible?

A Southern journal, which may be taken as a fair sample of its class both North and South, arraigns the ruling majority in the following style:

"Waste and corruption have gone hand in hand, through the whole process of its financial legislation, to swell the national debt and pile up the taxes upon the country. A little more than thirty years ago the administration of John Quincy Adams was condemned for extravagant expenditure, and this reached only some twenty millions a year. The government now being ruled by a Radical administration, has gone into the enormous sum of six hundred millions, and everything, but light and air is taxed to pay it. The army of radical contractors and speculators that has annexed every portion of the Government has been made to pay for its loans, and how much of its three thousand millions of war-debt has gone into the hands of the radical financiers and their friends."

Argus, says the Philadelphia North Americans, avails but little against such talk as this, and yet we must meet it, because this is the sort of stuff wherewith the Democrats mislead their followers. It amounts to nothing in the appreciation of these men to say that if the debt and the taxes were piled up by Republicans they have been also reduced by Republicans at the earliest possible moment. It serves their purpose to ignore the fact that a Republican Congress has largely reduced the national debt by the new Internal Revenue bill. Not one of the deluded followers of these Democratic leaders is ever likely to know of the fact from them, nor of the additional fact that a Republican Administration has lessened the national debt nearly a hundred millions within a year, after the close of the war, and that the man who did this was appointed, to the chagrin of Abraham Lincoln, and that the President who sustained it was nominated by the Radicals, National Convention and then by the Republican party.

Instead of the deluded millions which figure in this statement, the truth is we raise but five hundred and fifty millions, and Congress has provided for a reduction of taxes to the amount of $100,000,000. The whole burden of the debt and taxation is laid upon the Republicans, and they must recognize in this fact the imperious necessity that rests upon them of keeping their attention directed to the great work of reconstruction and redress. The Democrats were represented in Congress. How much did they do toward retrenchment? What distinctive measures can be pointed to as having been even offered by a Democrat in the way of retrenchment or debt? What appearance of an unusual desire to pay the debts, or other expenses, did they make? And, if anything else, except the payment of the same, was done, it was to the credit of the Radical party, and the cause of the country, that he did it. By mail to any address H. B. LEWIS.

JEFFERSON DAVIS.

M. T. HUNTER, Secretary of State.

WHAT MIGHT HAPPEN.—The New York Commercial notices the messages between the Queen, President, and other parties, in order to ask:

How long in case of war between England and this country, would an English army be tolerated on the submarine wire? Great Britain would at once take armed force, and we should busy ourselves with disputing that position, and getting up a blockade in mid-ocean, in order to interdict the use of many of the English preparations, and to prevent certain circumstances being so miserably, for both miserables—Cleveland Leader.

Appropriate Coincidence. It is a somewhat singular coincidence that the 14th of August, the day on which the rebels are to assemble in Philadelphia, is the anniversary of Jeff Davis' famous proclamation banishing all Union men from the Confederacy. As the document may not be remembered by the delegates and their friends we reproduce it for their especial benefit.

Now, I, Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederate States, do, by virtue of my proclamation, and I do hereby, order and require every male citizen of the United States of the age of fourteen years and upward, now within the Confederate States, and adhering to the government of the United States, to acknowledge the authority of the Confederate States, to depart from the Confederate States within forty days, and to inform all persons above described, who will be found within the Confederate States after the expiration of the said period of forty days, that they will be treated as alien enemies.
